

CONFERENCE

The International Conference on Interactive Collaborative Robotics (ICR) was established as a satellite event of the International Conference on Speech and Computer (SPECOM) in 2016. The conference gathered together experts from different communities to discuss challenges of human and robot collaboration in industrial, social, medical, education and other areas. Models of collaborative behavior of one or multiple robots with physical interaction with people in operational environment equipped embedded sensor networks and cloud services in conditions of uncertainty and environmental variability are the main issues of the conference.

ORGANIZERS

The conference is organized by St. Petersburg Institute for Informatics and Automation of the Russian Academy of Sciences (SPIIRAS, St. Petersburg, Russia), Munich University of Technology (TUM, Munich, Germany), Tomsk State University of Control Systems and Radioelectronics (TUSUR, Tomsk, Russia).

ICR 2018 is a satellite event of the International Conference on Speech and Computer organized by Leipzig University of Telecommunications (HfTL, Leipzig, Germany).
